Raiyats' contribution towards the restoration of Tanks.

READ—

Letter No. 11474, dated 22nd March 1930, from the Chief Engineer, stating that it would hinder progress in the restoration of tanks costing less than Rs. 25,000 if full payment of the raiyats contribution is insisted upon in advance, as required under para 380 (iii) of the Revenue Manual (Part I) and requesting that this rule might be modified so as to authorise recovery of the amount in annual instalments suitable to the circumstances of each case.

2. Correspondence ending with U. O. Note No. D. 2. Dis. 2203, dated 7th May 1930 of the Revenue Commissioner, stating that he is agreeable to the modifications proposed by the Chief Engineer.

ORDER NO. R. 1-12—L. R. 105-29-40, DATED 1ST JULY 1930.

The Chief Engineer reports that it has been usual to take up the restoration of tanks after the raiyats have executed mutchalikas agreeing to pay up the contribution amount in annual instalments ranging from four to ten years generally ; but that the Comptroller requires that the sanction of Government should be obtained for this practice as it is not in accordance with the rule laid down in this behalf in para 380 (iii) of the Revenue Manual (Part I) which requires that "voluntary contributions should be paid up before the commencement of the work." The Chief Engineer is of opinion that a strict enforcement of the rule as it stands would hinder progress in the restoration of tanks, and suggests that it might be modified to permit of the amount due being recovered in annual instalments suitable to the circumstances of each case. The Revenue Commissioner agrees to this suggestion. Government are therefore pleased to direct that para 380 (iii) of the Revenue Manual (Part I) be revised as shown below :—

"iii. Such voluntary contributions, if lumpsum, should ordinarily be paid up before the commencement of work ; but where the share of each raiyat in the contribution is ascertained, the Chief Engineer, may, with the concurrence of the Deputy Commissioner permit the contribution to be paid in equal annual instalments not exceeding ten, after obtaining a proper mutchalika from the raiyats. This rule applies to holders of minor inams also."
